MINISTER AS EDITOR.

After one Day's Experience is said to Give Up Job.

The other day in California the Rev. Malcolm James McLeod, a Presbyterian clergyman who will soon undertake ministerial duties for a New York congregation of large wealth, edited one issue of the Pasadena Star. He entered the editorial offices with the young vigor of an undaunted conviction that nothing in the nature of the newspaper business presented an obstacle to a man of intelligent theories, even though the details of execution were unknown to him.

Mr. McLeod did his day's work and the profession observing the fruit of the labor of the amateur can say that he did it well, but here is the expression of his revised convictions:

"My time is now almost up as I pen this last line; my head is almost paralyzed; my brain is befuddled, and I am free to confess that I am right glad to vacate the holy spot. Such rush and riot and disarray. Such a jumble and postmortem. It strikes me as the daily effort to bring order out of chaos, and do it lightning quick. I am reminded of the memorable words 'The earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the deep. And the spirit moved upon the face of the waters.' Never shall I criticize newspaper men more. I shall pray for them. They will have my heart's forbearance henceforth and forever, the hardest work, the shortest lived, poorest paid brain workers on this old world of ours."

Heterodox as it may be, one is almost forced to believe that the same law of selection which in the long run puts men into the work for which they are best fitted and gives that work the available may even operate in the production of newspapers. We do not wish to be rash and will not insist that it be so, but we gather that it is the new belief of Rev. Malcolm James McLeod.—Chicago Tribune.

The average churchgoer much prefers going to church late. It makes a commotion and disturbs the minister in prayer, reading or sermon, and also draws attention to any new article of wearing apparel on the cavalier who may chance to be in attendance. Two minutes early is almost a crime in the dislike to have their minds distracted eyes of really devout worshippers, who by footsteps and the rustle of garments during service.

Owners of the new Brooklyn tunnel are much disappointed. Not every strap on every train was in use the first day. Still they should give such staid persons as Brooklynites at least a week to get the tunnel habit.

Automobile scorches are to be put in jail. That is treatment more nearly fitting the disease. Some scorches would rather pay a fine than eat penitence. It makes them feel free without crippling them financially.

A publisher's catalogue divides books into three lists: "Famous Books," "Readable Books," "Gift Books." No book appears in more than one list. This is an amusing comment on "the present state of literature."

Laura Jean Libbey has copyrighted 21 new plays at one fell swoop. Evidently the pleasant fiction that working girls are always persecuted and then marry fabulously wealthy young men with large, dark eyes is considered good for many more centuries.

New York hotel keepers will learn after awhile. Henceforth when a man signs his name "Duke de Doodhead" or something quite as noble and impressive it will be to the street for him unless he has a few tons of baggage along as an evidence of good faith.

Catherine Waugh McCulloch says that women do not get a show before a jury unless they are pretty, and then they get too much of a show. The idea that any one should slander the girls that way! Our understanding of it was that they were all pretty.

Bridal Couple Fight.

Atlanta, April 1.—The refusal of J. J. McCourt, a bridegroom of a few months, to carry his wife's perfectly clean poodle dog under his arm while walking in the street caused a fight between the couple in public which resulted in their arrest. McCourt is a native of New York. His bride hails from Washington. They were married a few months ago and came to Atlanta.

Mrs. McCourt is a handsome young woman and she wears pretty clothes. Her husband is nice looking, too, and they are said to have shown all signs of being happily married up to the ill-fated hour when the poodle dog came between them.

At the police station the couple became reconciled and were released. Meanwhile the poodle has disappeared and Mr. and Mrs. McCourt are offering a reward for the dog.

Saved From The Grave.

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs. M. L. Dix, of Clarksville, Tenn. "Of the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I could not do any work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. Its best medicine made promptly but I could not get it for the throat and lung." Obstructed coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, la grippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis, and hemorrhages, hoarseness and whooping cough, yield quickly to this wonderful medicine. Try it: 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Why not in this County

This suggestive paragraph is from the Bamberg Herald:

"Eight carloads of beef cattle were shipped from this point last Thursday. Bamberg is not only the largest market in the lower part of the state for horses and mules, but it is getting to be a cattle market as well. These cattle were fattened by farmers near town."

The Herald can perform a public service by ascertaining the net profit made by the shipper of these beeves. We are informed by a local butcher that home raised cattle is now bringing six cents the pound gross on the hoof. A carload of beeves, he tells us, is worth from $1,500 to $1,700. This would mean that there was turned loose in Bamberg last Thursday from this source alone between $12,000 and $14,000. The value of this to a community like Bamberg is apparent on its face.

What part of this amount was profit we do not know, but that it was substantial we do not doubt. We are glad at any rate to note that cattle raising is on the increase in this part of South Carolina and we hope that the example of the Bamberg farmers will spread.—News and Courier.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dust.

Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 20 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands, and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indecate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

Meal and Acid.

There seems to be an impression that cottonseed meal is too high to use as a fertilizer. You can use two tons of 14 per cent. acid and one ton of meal and you will have three tons of fertilizer that will cost you $20.94 per ton, delivered at Anderson, S. C., fall payment. This meal runs from 8 1-2 per cent. to 8 per cent. ammonia and about 2 per cent. potash. That is not high for a fertilizer as prices are now. A great many people have tried meal and acid mixed and have found it very satisfactory. There is nothing that goes through a distributor or grain drill slicker or smoother than meal and acid. Ten-four acid, 10 per cent. phosphoric acid and 4 per cent. potash, mixed with meal makes a corking good fertilizer; when you use that you get a fertilizer that is among the best to be had. Ask W. H. Glenn, (Henry Glenn) his experience with 10-4 acid and meal. He tried it a year or so ago and has kept it up.

Now, if you expect to use meal and acid this year we would suggest that you get your meal early. A little later than this last year we all woke up one morning and found the supply of cottonseed meal was exhausted. There was none to be had. Last year there was more cottonseed meal made than there has been or will be this year. There were more seed to crush. There was more cotton made. Last winter was a much milder winter than this has been and it takes more meal for the cows in a hard winter than it does in a milder winter. We have used more this winter than we did last winter. There was not very much meal exported to Europe last year. There were five thousand tons of meal exported from Charleston a few days ago and most of it came from oil mills in this state. Now, taking all these things together, a shorter crop this year, a harder winter, taking more meal and very much heavier export trade this year than last and then remembering that last year the meal supply was completely exhausted a little later than this, and we can hardly resist the conclusion that meal will be higher before a great while. If you put off trying to get it too long you may find that you are fishing behind the net. Besides, if you are going to use it why not get it and haul it home and have it ready. Get it while you can get it; don't put it off until it is all gone. The place to fish is ahead of the net, not behind it. Fishing behind the net is mighty poor business.

We have given you the price of a fertilizer two-thirds acid and one-third meal. Now if you use half meal and half acid it will cost you some more but you will find it a stronger fertilizer, and then perhaps, you can mix it better. When you mix half and half you won't have any left over. You can make your biscuit and gravy give out at the same time.

Now we have a magnificent lot of high grade ammoniated goods to sell; goods that have proven satisfactory all over this up country wherever they were used last year. We want to suggest to you that there is more in the fertilizer than the analysis. You can't always go by the analysis. The main difference is in the ammonia. We get the ammoniates from different sources. The best ammoniate plant food is from high grade blood from the slaughter pens of the West. It runs about 17 per cent. ammonia and is available on the spot as a plant food. Hooft meal runs from 18 per cent. to 20 per cent. ammonia and will stand up all right on analysis, show up well on paper, but it takes about seven years to become available as a plant food after it is put in the ground. Ammonia derived from leather meal we are told never becomes a plant food. We are merely mentioning this to point out and make clear to you that you can't depend on the analysis. You want to buy fertilizer on grade and on results obtained, on visible fruits as shown in crops. The crops grown last year where our fertilizer was used speak for themselves and we are perfectly willing to rest our case on them. There were no better crops made in Anderson County last year than those fertilized with our fertilizer. Buy fertilizer on grade; don't buy fertilizer like you buy fat backs. A fat back is a fat back, you can send an idiot to a store and he can buy as good a fat back as the best farmer in Anderson County. But that is not the way you buy your coffee, or your clothing, or your shoes, or your flour, or your land or your mules. You buy them on grade just as nearly everything else is bought except fertilizer and fat backs.

We wish to especially recommend our 10-4, 10-6, 8-3-3, 8-4-1, 9-3-3 and 10-4-4—8-3-3 and 9-3-3 for red lands, 10-4, 10-6, 8-4-1 and 10-4-4 for sandy lands.
